Great questions John,

If it is public then I think we will limit what we can provide to very generic and high level. It may not suffice the board, ergo they may need another one with more details about staffing and costs, as Blair mentioned.

Sorry...I meant to have a few points with this email....

I am a bit concerned about this kind of update because we don't usually have much to say during an event and we may be raising the temperature when a lot of good work to keep things calm is underway.

If we do proceed, we need to think about....

Is the briefing public?

How do we present a high level operational plan

What details around timing or areas of concern (map) can we develop in time

What are the associated costs and how are we tracking...can we recover

What size deployment are we looking at

I am tight on staff but we can probably operate a briefing like this by zoom or teams.

John

Hi John,

As you are already aware, Diane was trying to organize an opportunity for the Chief to brief Members of Council on the trucker convoy at tomorrow's Council meeting.

The Mayor's office has just gotten back to us, and has suggested that a briefing take place tomorrow following Council and the post-Council media availability.

Diane would like to arrange for this briefing to be for both OPSB members and members of Council. We've just written to the Clerk's office to ask them to advise of a suitable time for the briefing, and I've given Krista a heads up as well, as the Mayor's office has asked the Board to provide notice and organize logistics.

Diane has also requested a pre-briefing prior to a briefing for the Board and Council.

I'll send an update to both you and Krista once we have heard back from the Clerks' office.

Thanks,

Julia
